

Pantera FAQ #1 – Panther Pride Night

1. What is Panther Pride Night?

Panther Pride Night is a community-wide pep rally for our Fall sports such as, Football, Volleyball, Cheerleading, Band, Dance Team. . .more that I can't remember, I'm sure.

2. What happens at Panther Pride Night?

When you arrive at the school, you will notice that the Panther Den has been transformed into a market place. The football boosters have a silent auction that usually includes yummy food. Other groups will be there selling their items as well. . .including Panteras. Around 30 minutes to an hour after you arrive, we all move into the main gym (some people get in there early to get the best seats). In the Main Gym, each Fall Sports group is announced. Their coaches are announced as well as each child. This is done throughout the show, not all at once. This includes our Panteras. The Panteras usually perform early in the show.

3. What happens after the Panteras perform?

We sit in the stands and applaud the rest of the groups that represent our school in many areas. It takes a while but this is important to show respect for the other organizations.

4. How long does it last?

I'm actually not sure. . .not because I sneaked out early, I just don't remember. I think it ended about 8 ish.

5. What's expected of me?

Wear your Pantera Parent shirt. It makes for great conversation with parents around you. Bring your camera to video tape your daughter's performance. . .for some of us, this will be her first performance as a Pantera. Sniff, sniff. Cheer loudly for all of the groups.

6. What can make it more interesting after my precious daughter is done dancing?

Well, plan ahead and find out who her football buddy is so you can check him out when he walks out and has his name announced. Better yet, listen to hear who she talks about all the time and maybe you'll get a "look-see" at this guy who has caught your daughter's attention. Oh, and meeting the other parents around you and finding out when their kid comes out and cheering with them as if it's your kid is a lot of fun for them and their kid. I really do that. I know, you're not surprised, are you? Life's short, embrace it and have some fun!

7. What do the Panteras wear?

Whatever Woody dictates. . .and they should know. Usually there's a set time to be there and they'd better have their make up on before they leave your house. . .let's keep these girls from applying make up using a rear view mirror. . .it's really not big enough to judge if their make up has been applied well. . .oh, and it's not SAFE either.

8. Will my Pantera join me in the stands when she's done performing?

I don't think so. There won't be any room. It's pretty crowded in there. She can hang with her Pantera sisters until the show is over.

9. How does my daughter get to/from Panther Pride Night?

You are responsible for providing transportation for your daughter to and from Panther Pride Night that is held at CHHS.
